"Relentlessly Strengthening Urban Education"

"Recruitment"

High-performing city educators and school leaders transform lives. Students families, and communities are strengthened through highly effective school teachers and leaders. That is why we have "recruitment" as one of our three main focus areas. We support institutions that recruit valuable people and prepare them for urban schools. The Center for Urban Education Ministries (CUEM) finds university students that have a desire to serve in the city and provides them with additional training which prepares them to be successful in urban schools. This intentional training is done through conferences, workshops, expert teacher modeling, and immersion trips. One of the main causes of the current educational crisis in our nation is the lack of highly effective urban educators. The Center for Urban Education Ministries is tackling this vital need. Please consider donating to CUEM to expand our recruitment reach and truly transform lives.

RESOURCES

Gifts of the Black Intellectual Tradition

1. Christian Faith under conditions of oppression
2. Provides critique tempered by grace and mercy
3. Models immersion in and blending of great traditions

CUEM sponsored professional development for parents, teachers and schools on integrating Black educators and intellectuals into the curriculum. Dr. Anika Prather and Dr. Angel Adams Parham share the wisdom and virtue of the great voices who came before.

RECOGNITION

We appreciate and honor our "JAKE NELSON ACHIEVER AWARD WINNERS." 2024 Jake Nelson Achiever Award Winners will be selected soon.

Reflections from Mel Keischnick

(CUEM Board Member, Emeritus)

"The faith-based school, there the principal and staff will tell parents, "We can't do it all and we can't do it alone, but we'll do what we can, together. Together, we can teach, and model timeless moral values, the Ten Commandments and the grace of God."
